WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—For this sec-tion fair tonight and Thursday; light north-erly winds. FIRE AT THE OVERALL FACTORY .-About haif-post seven o'clock last night the prolonged blowing of a steam whistle which seemed to be on the river front attracted attention. After blow-ing steadily for over a minute it emitted a series of short blasts, indicative of alarm. The telephone in the station house was ringing at the same time and in less time than it takes to tell it an alarm had spread all over the city to the effect that the Globe Flour Mills were burning. This was, however, Mr. Peter Lawrence, the head miller at the Globe Flour Mills, had dis overed the Globe Flour Mills, had dis overed the fire and blown the whistle at the mills, that properly was not burning, but firm-s were ascending from the east end of Mr.J. R. Zhamerman's overall factory, on the south side of the dock at the foot of Queen erreet. There were many peo-ple in the streets at the time, and in a few of Mr.J. R. Zimmerman's overall factory, on the south side of the dock at the foot of Queen erreet. There were many people in the streets at the time, and in a few minutes time cumberless persons were packed on Union and Queen street. The fire department was with the advance guard and lost no time in getting to work. The fire was in the extreme and nine appearing to the suiting and near got to work tongoes of flame were protruding through the upper floor and elevator shaft, while overalls and raw materials were burning like tinder. The eastern end of the building was full of smoke and for a time it was impossible for the firemen to enter, and when some subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the sufficient of the class and the sufficient of the class and the subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the sufficient of the class and the subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were enabled to do so they were subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were enabled to do so they were subsequently were enabled to do so they were subsequently were enabled to do so they were forced to retire to the subsequently were to the subsequently to the so they were forced to retire to escape suffication. Powerful streams of water were deluging the interior of the build-ing, and their effect was soon manifes: Luiders were placed against the walls of the burning building, and the fire-men gained entrance by mears of the windows. Everything that could be saved was taken out, including all the books of the factory. The third floor was very little damaged. In the rear of he building is the stable, where are quartered the horses of Mr. Zimmerman's coal yard. This is a one story frame affair, with a loft. As soon as it was learned that the building was on fire one of the employes of the factory fire one of the employes of the factory turned the horses, eight in number, out. The stable was very little damaged. The factory which is of brick and two and one-half stories high, still remains intact, but the stock and machinery are completely ruined. The loss, covered by insurance, as far as can be estimated, will reach the sum of $6.000. The origin of the fire is unknown. Some say that it started simultaneously at the east end of the huilding, and in the factory, at that end, while others say that the fire started from the outside of the building, at the east end, where there were ing, at the east end, where there were a number of boxes. There was reason to believe some people were bent on pillsging, and several policemen were kept busy watching those who seemed to want to steal. One man was arrested as he was leaving the building with the bosom of his shirt stuffed with overalls. Officer Davis noticed a boat pulling off in the dark-ness and ordered the occupants to reman factory began operations in the early spring under auspicious circum-stances, and at the time of the fire had more orders on hand than could be filed. Sixty-five hands were employed Mr. Zimmerman will immediately secure a suitable building and resume the manufacture of overalls. In the mea time the present building will be repaired and placed in a better condition for his purposes than it was before the fire. Orders for the manufactured articles are still increasing, one for a large amount from a Northern firm having come in this morning. In a short time everything will again be in ranning order. SHE HAD A $1,000 BILL.-Ruth Jones, a well known colored girl of this city, startled the clerks in a store yesterday afternoon by presenting a $1 000 bil, and was later arrested on suspicion of but the men proved to be sallors from a schooner anchored in the stream and trying to pass money the property of another. She received the change and left the store. A message was sent to police headquarters and she was over-taken by detectives. When searched she had $81, but denied ever baving possessed the $1,000 bill. While working on the case the police received word by telegraph that a $1,000 bill had need by (elegraph that a $1,000 bill had been stolen from John E. Murphy, of Prov idence, R. I.' while in a saloon near police headquarters in New York. Licatenant Smith, of this city stated that the woman's father tried to change the bill in Alexandria last Thursday. OPERA HOUSE.-It seems that man ager Harper is determined to give his friends and patrons, this sesson, the very best that is to be had in the the atrical field. Another startling attraction will appear here tomorrow evening. This time it is that cyclone of comedy, "Side Tracked," The play is not new to theare-goers in general, but we are assured that the present company is the best that has ever appeared in it, and from the continual praise bestowed on the attraction, by both press and public, it is certainly meeting with success throughout the country.

ALEXANDRIANS VICTORIOUS .- A game of backetball was played last night in Armory Hall, between the Alexandria Light Infantry team and the team representing the Gibraltars, of Washington. The Alexandrians won by a score of 7 to 6. The members of the Alexandria team claim that they were outweighed by an average of thirty pounds.

A lodge of B. P. O. Elks, to be known as Alexandria Lodge, will be organized in this city about the middle of next mouth. It will start with a membership of thirty.

WATCHMAN FINED .- Mr. Shell, the watchman at the Consumer's Brewery in the county, on Sunday night discov-ered that a horse and buxgy had been ered that a horse and buzgy had been taken from the premises, and mounting a horse started in search of the missing property. He believed he had traced the horse and buggy to the house of a man named Moody and upon demanding them was confronted by the inmates of the house in a menacing manner, and compelled to leave the premises. Yesterday Shell was arrested on a warrant charging him with carrying a pistol, it being alleged that when the men came out of Moody's house he drew the weapon. He was house he drew the weapon. He was niced $59.65 by Justice Stevens and was released when a representative of the brewery became responsible for that

TEMPTING PROVIDENCE .- This morn ing between nine and ten o'clock a young man who was riding a blcycle rode across the track at the intersecfront of a train moving south and clear-ed it by but a few feet. The rash youth ran aslan -- heading southwest--and had his wheel caught in the rail his death would have been inevitable. This is by no means a rare instance where men and boys make it a practice to cross tracks in front of an approaching train. It is often done at St. Asaph Junction, and it is often observed how tew fatal accidents result from such turn and submit to an examination.

They failed to obey the summons promptly and the efficer fired his revolver, which had the desired effect, FRATERNAL VISITS.-W. T. Hub-Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, of Virginia, last night paid a fraternal visit to had merely rowed to the wharf to witness the progress of the fire. Among the first to arrive at the factory after the alarm was sounded were several boys who were employed there. With the Mount Vernon Chapter of this city. Mr. Hubbard received a hearty wel

THOUGHT IT WAS A BIBLE .- A well known and popular saloon keeper who attended a cuchre party last night wor one of the prizes which, when handed him, was supposed to be a small and sandsomely-bound copy of the New Testament. I was in limp Turkey morocco, gilt-edged and with a neat clasp. Several friends who saw it sugclasp. Several friends who saw it suggested it would be a nice present for his wife if the lucky gentleman did not care to acquaint himself with its con ents. It was subsequently unclasped and what was supposed to be a Testanent was found to contain a pack of playing cards.

FIRES IN MARYLAND.—The chemi-cal works at Indian Head were deeroyed by fire last Friday afternoon. The loss will amount, it is said, to about $50,000. Will Brooks's barn and stable, a short tistance north of Fort Foote, were de stroyed by fire yeaterday.

The fire which raged in the same locality early yeaterday morning and which attracted considerable attention on this side of the river was some woods burning. The fire is supp to have been caused by 'possum hunt POLICE COURT.-There was but on case before the mayor this morning, that of a negro named Harry Jackson, 19 years old, who was charged with stealing about ninety pounds of iron from W. S. Moore's Sons. In the absence of a material witness the case was cona rough-and-tumble fight with his father. Asron Jackson. The latter charged the son with carrying a pistol and a razor. The boy accused the father of carrying the pistol and his sister with baving charge of the stolen

COMPRILED TO STAND OUT IN THE COLD.—As was stated in the Gezette last week, the telegraph and signal station of the Washington Southern Railway has been moved from the Fayette street depot to the yard of the company, about two squares beyond the city's limits, or nearly abreast of the cometeries. This has resulted in closing that waiting rooms at the depot in the night time, and passengers desiring to go north or south on late trains are compelled to stay out in the cold until they arrive. Last night some of the patrors of the road were compelled to enter caloons in the neighborhood the patrons of the road were compelled to enter saloons in the neighborhood while wai ing for a train, and near mid-night, when the saloons closed their doors, the passengers were compelled to go into the street and remain there until the arrival of a belated train.
